Specification

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

The following is a quotation of 37 CFR 1.71(a)-(c):

- (a) The specification must include a written description of the invention or discovery and of the manner and process of making and using the same, and is required to be in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art or science to which the invention or discovery appertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same.
- (b) The specification must set forth the precise invention for which a patent is solicited, in such manner as to distinguish it from other inventions and from what is old. It must describe completely a specific embodiment of the process, machine, manufacture, composition of matter or improvement invented, and must explain the mode of operation or principle whenever applicable. The best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention must be set forth.
- (c) In the case of an improvement, the specification must particularly point out the part or parts of the process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter to which the improvement relates, and the description should be confined to the specific improvement and to such parts as necessarily cooperate with it or as may be necessary to a complete understanding or description of it.

2. The specification is objected to under 37 CFR 1.71, because failing to provide an adequate written description of the invention. The specification as filed does not provide support for "at least two chambers" as recited in claim 1 because the drawings and the specification only show two chambers.

3. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 USC 112, first paragraph, for the reasons set forth in the objection to the specification. To obviate the objection and rejection it is suggest that "at least" be deleted from the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

6. Claims 1, 3, 4, 6-10 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Moy (3,160,061) in view of Hall (4,940,135). Moy discloses a protector comprising a housing (12) and two chambers (16, 40) disposed in the housing with one chamber disposed inside another of the chambers. The chambers formed with a plurality of holes (44-47) along a longitudinal length thereof. Moy also discloses the other claimed limitations except for the housing comprises an end cap at one end and a plug at another end. Hall shows a protector (10) comprising a housing (12) with an end cap (14) at one end of the housing and a plug (15) at another end of the housing. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art in view of Hall to modify the housing of Moy so the housing comprising an end cap at one end of the housing and a plug at another end of the housing to facilitate removing the chambers from the housing.

As to claims 3 and 4, Moy discloses the chambers are generally concentric with one another and with the housing.

As to claims 6-9, the selection of the specific locations of the holes on the chambers such as the holes of at least one of the chambers are symmetrically spaced from one another or the holes of one of the chambers are spaced angularly from the holes of another of the chambers or the holes of one of the chambers are spaced perpendicularly from the holes of another of the chambers would have been an obvious matter of design choice inasmuch as the resultant structures will work equally well and inasmuch as applicant's specification does not state that using these specific locations as claimed solves any particular problem or yields any unexpected results.

As to claim 10, Moy discloses the protector secured partially or wholly within a transporting vehicles (column 2, line 46-47) which is considered equivalent to the protector is at least partially covered with a protective coating as claimed.

As to claim 12, Hall shows the housing includes a handle (34) (Figure 6).
